

The Experience of the COVID 19 Pandemic by Minorities in Europe (additional Corona-related funding)

Initiative: Herausforderungen für Europa

Bewilligung: 20.07.2020

Laufzeit: 10 Monate

In line with focus of the project 'Misrecognising Minorities in Europe. Challenges to Integration and Security (MisMiE)', the applicants are interested to see whether misrecognition experienced by minorities in Europe, particularly Muslims in Western Europe and Roma people in Eastern Europe, are specifically affected in the COVID 19 pandemic context and whether these bear upon trust in the authorities and adherence to official measures to contain the pandemic. Through shedding light on whether particular groups have specific difficulties to comply with the provisions of the strategy, as they are facing misrecognition, discrimination, and harsher economic and financial conditions, the project will promote a better pandemic containment strategy and a reduction of the impact of this pandemic on marginalised and vulnerable people in society.

Projektbeteiligte

Prof. Dr. Andreas Zick

Universität Bielefeld
Fakultät für Erziehungswissenschaft
Institut für Interdisziplinäre Konflikt- und
Gewaltforschung
X-Gebäude E1-270
Bielefeld

Prof. Dr. Stephen Reicher

University of St. Andrews
School of Psychology and Neuroscience
St Andrews
Grossbritannien

Dr. Anna Kende

Eötvös Loránd University
Institute of Psychology
Department of Social Psychology
Budapest
Ungarn

